

All the Colors of Love

Breathing in the moment, I recognize that there is One Power, One Presence, One Truth and Divine Energy that I call God, Universe, Source, Spirit — an ever abundant Source of pure light and perfect love. I see and feel Spirit all around me.

I recognize the God Presence in the stillness of the morning, in the quiet of the neighborhood. I know the One Power and Presence of God radiates in, through and around all things, seen and unseen, sparking the divine influence within me. And I am one with It.

I rest in knowing this for myself, and I absolutely know and affirm this for each unique and individualized soul and being on this Earth and beyond: We are all one.

I acknowledge and honor the very spark of the universe in each precious presence experienced and seen as all the colors of love, for it can only be Spirit manifesting and showing up as Its truest self.

I claim this truth for myself. I know I show up as my own unique color of love perfectly, wholly and completely. I lean into my faith with solid declaration that I am fully supported in every way by Source and divine right action, fully living each day as an open conduit of Spirit, inviting the best and highest to unfold in all ways.

As I stand in my faith, I release all negativity, fear, worry, judgment and prejudices back into the shadows from which they came for they are not the truth and cannot live in the light of the Divine. I stand in my power, accepting joy, grace and peace into my life now.

I anchor this declaration at the very center of who I am and acknowledge the grace of God is already at work. I feel the vibration of my alignment with the Divine has been raised and solidified.

And with a grateful heart, I give thanks for this knowing as my soul sings this truth. I release my words onto the active Law of Mind, knowing that it is already done — letting go and letting God. And so it is. ✞
